

For St Andrew's Church in Boothby Pagnell, Lincolnshire, and working with John Loughborough Pearson in 1897, Hitch carved a mahogany triptych in low relief. The theme of the reredos is the "Passion". In the central panel we see Our Lord on the cross and to his right and left are angels bearing reminders of the crucifixion; Nails, the Crown of Thorns, a spear and sponge and a cross.